

HTML clipboard

In the Internet Explorer menu bar, and so too of other Browsers, there is a provision to set your own Home Page.

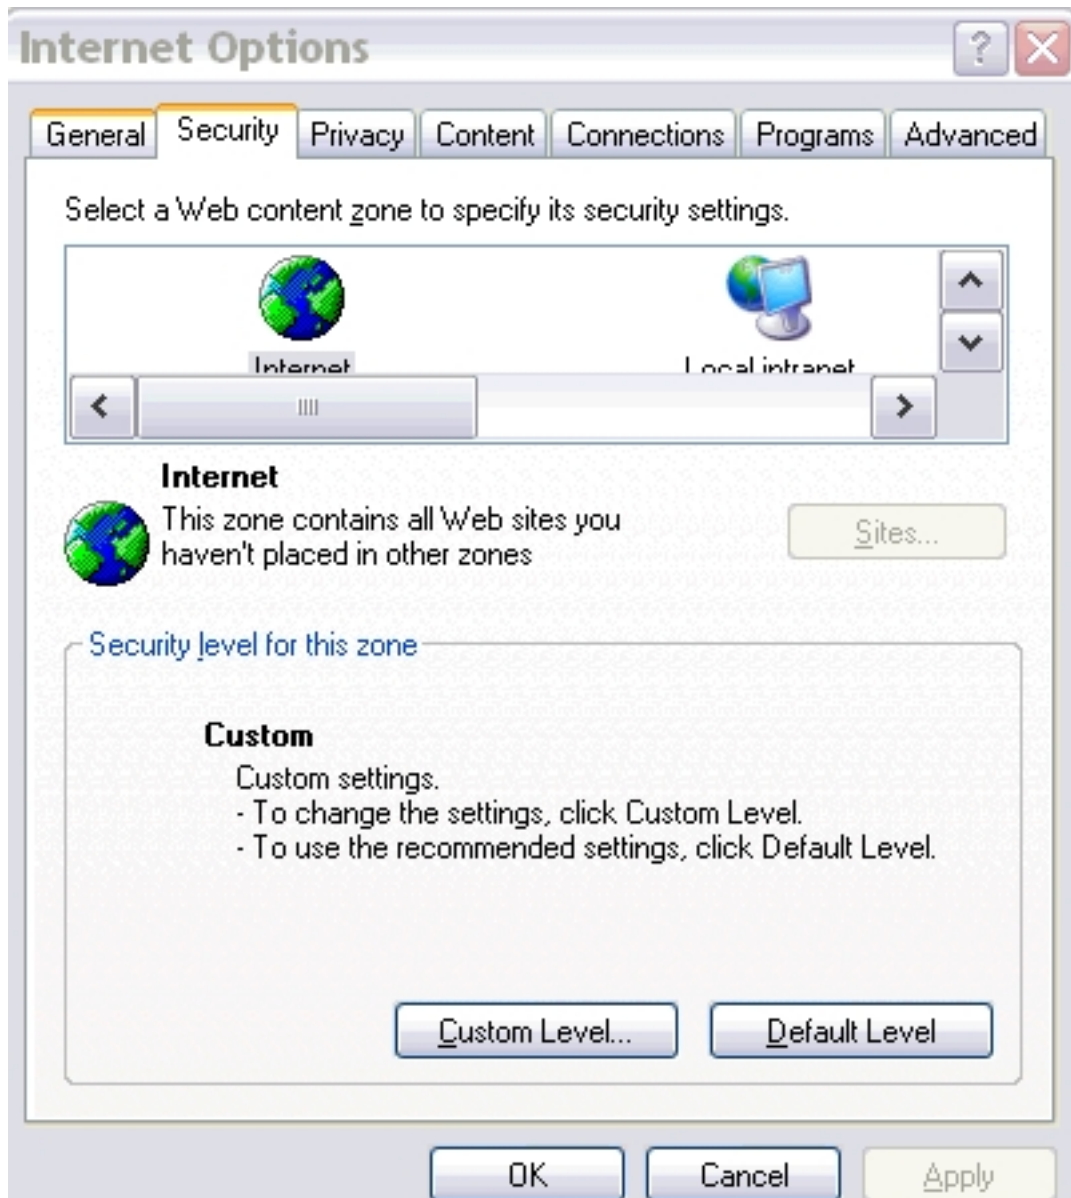

A Home Page is the first page that appears on your browser. It could be

1. A particular website home page, like MSN, Yahoo, or your own website.
2. If you choose My Yahoo for example, you can choose, color, background, content and layout.
3. To make your own website, you should learn, HTML from the internet, and create your web pages with the help of web designing software like Microsoft Front Page or Dream weaver.
4. You can upload your web pages to Geocities server, which is a Yahoo Service. You learn about it in your HTML free classes at <http://webdesign.about.com>

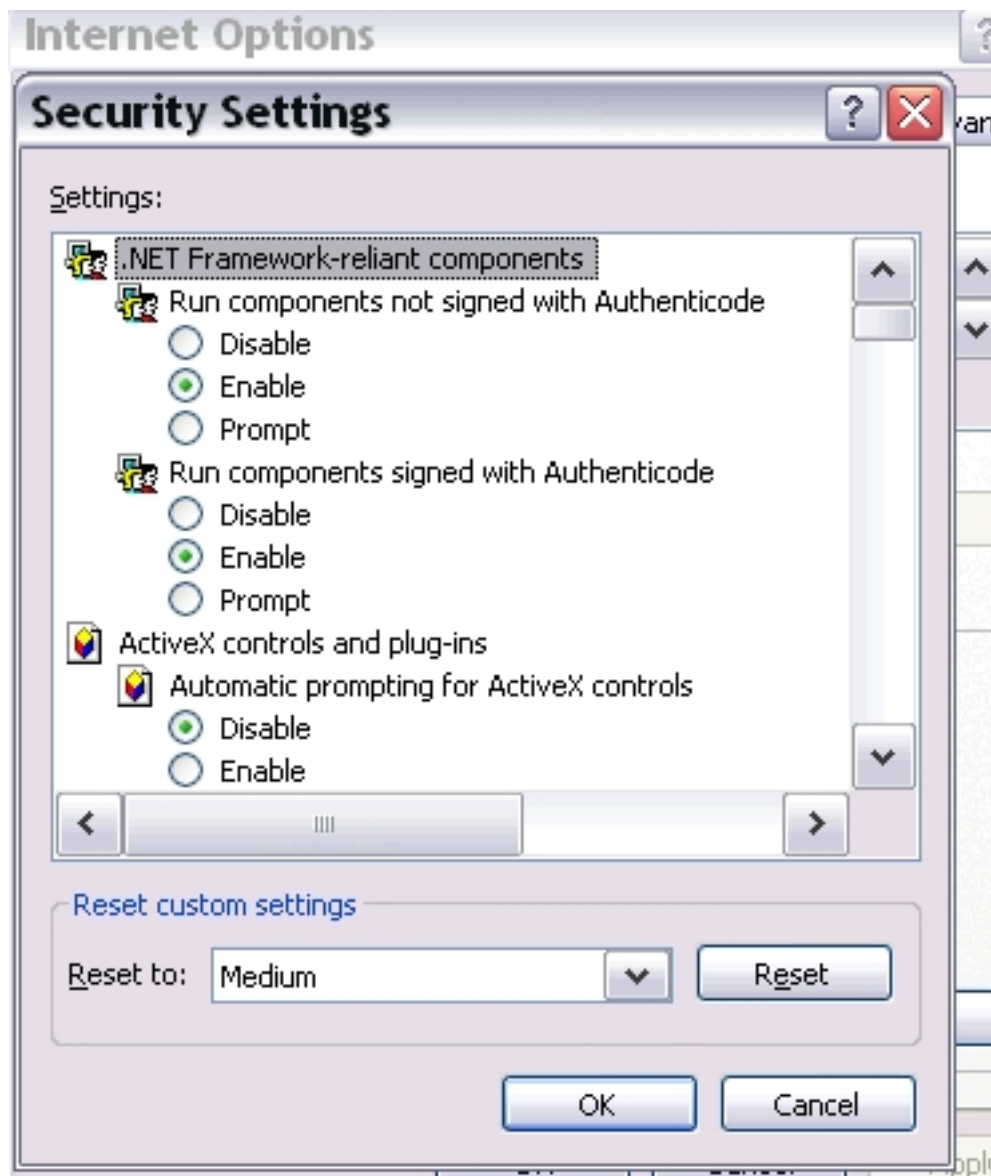

On Internet Explorer menu bar click on Tools, and then choose Internet Options. This will take you to the dialog box, and you type the address of the website you want, or you can cut and paste the address of your favorite website. To do so, log on to the website, or if you are in the middle, go to its home page, (starting page) and then place your mouse in the address bar, right click on it, and click copy (or press CTRL+C) and then place the mouse in the Internet Options dialog box, and right click the mouse, and click paste. (or CTRL+V).

Security

When you click the Custom Level button, a dialog box appears that lets you select one of the following categories. Some categories may be disabled, depending on the Internet Explorer version and the security settings. Some categories may be disabled, depending on the Internet Explorer version and the security settings. Some categories may be disabled, depending on the Internet Explorer version and the security settings.

Privacy

Settings:

Medium. Can change according to your needs, as high will prevent all cookies and filter the browser. Low will allow everything, so you may get undesirable sites

Sites.

You can block or allow the sites of your choice.

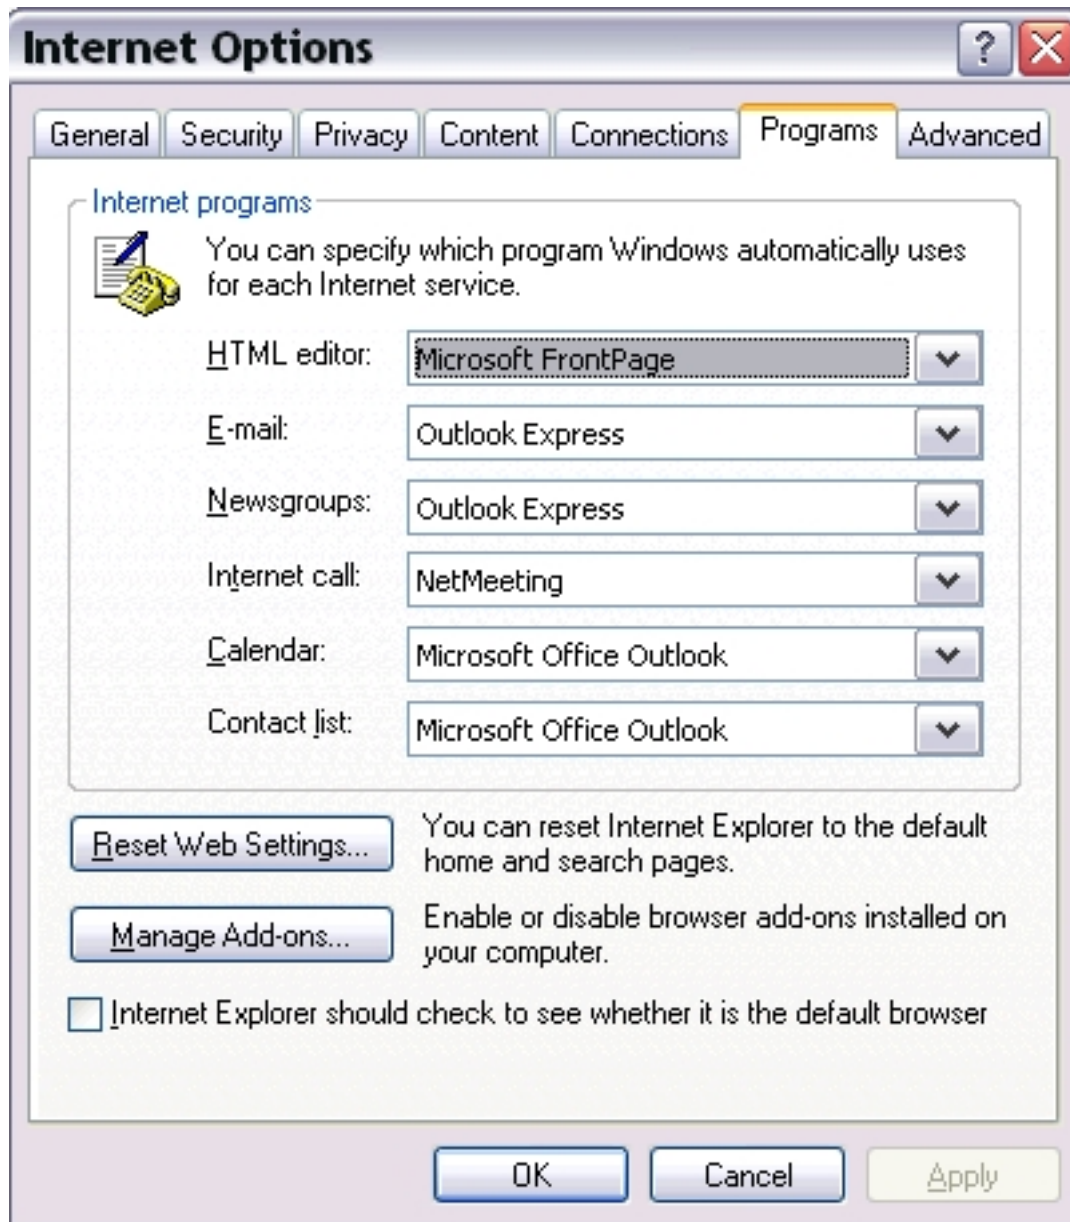

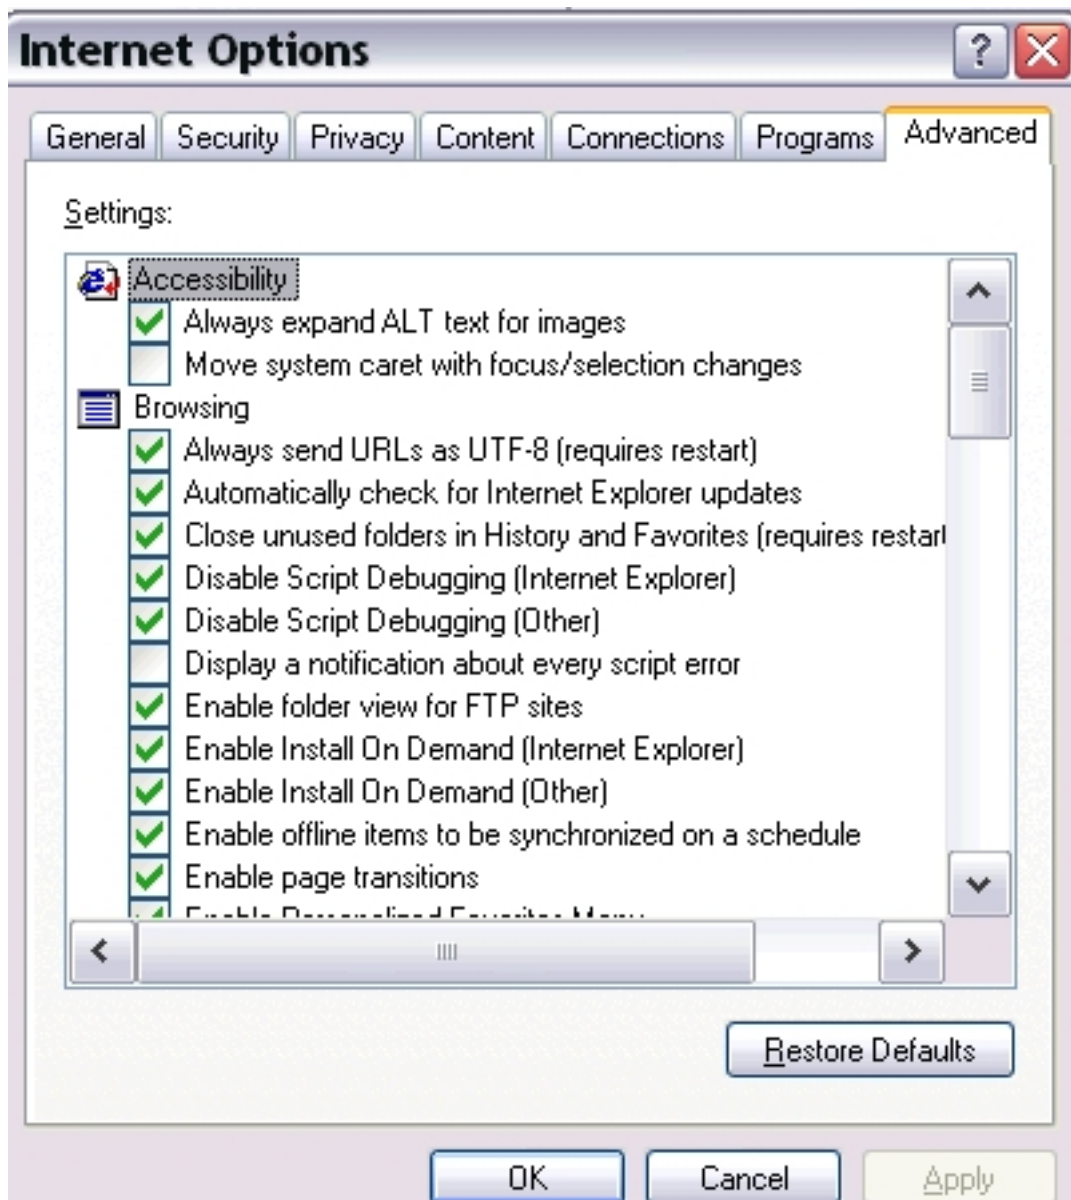

For more information on how to manage your privacy settings, click the Content Advisor link in the Content Advisor section of the Internet Options dialog box. For more information on how to manage your privacy settings, click the Content Advisor link in the Content Advisor section of the Internet Options dialog box.

These are to be attempted after gaining experience.

There is a very useful website, <http://www.browsers-work.com/> where you can learn of the various things that work.